CHAIN REACTION

 1.5 - 2.5 HOURS

 INDOOR - OUTDOOR

 10 - UNLIMITED

 COLLABORATIVE

Get ready to be the architect of the most spectacular chain reaction you can imagine. Build a series of devices with your team, using the material available, and taking advantage of the suggestions given by the countless cards to transport the energy from the beginning to the end of your creation. But beware: your work will have to be linked with that of the other teams, to form together a single blatant chain reaction. You will then have to share your choices, create an action plan, try and retry the connections and change where needed. Until the great final test, in which the energy will pass from beginning to end through all your works.

CHAIN REACTION

LEARNING OUTCOMES

Collaboration between teams to share knowledge and resources is critical to success and to extend the boundaries of creativity. Teams work to develop a common vision and shared strategy that they implement by applying excellent project and resource management skills. Successful teams understand the task, the cards, evaluate the available resources, make an initial plan which they then evaluate and adapt during construction. In the testing phases, teams learn to be persistent in the face of difficulties, with an eye for detail in working towards excellence.

“

What the team liked most about Chain Reaction was the challenge to connect the tables, which is often an issue during daily work: how to connect with a colleague from another department.
